Part X, Line 2: APSA is exempt from federal income taxes under Section

501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). It is the Associations position that all support and revenues are substantially related to its exempt purpose, the Association has taken the position that it is not required to pay any federal or state income tax. Accordingly, these financial statements show no income tax expense or provision for income taxes.

The Association has been classified as an organization that is not a private foundation under Section 509(a) of the IRC. Contributions to the Association qualify for charitable contribution deductions as stated in Section 170 of the IRC.

It is the Associations policy to provide for uncertain tax positions and any related interest or penalties based upon managements assessment of whether a tax benefit is more-likely-than-not is sustained upon examination by taxing authorities. Since the Association considers itself exempt from any income taxes or reporting requirement, no provision for interest or penalties has been made in these financial statements and reproduce it.

POSAs video programs are available at the Officer.com web site (www.officer.com). Officer.com is the leading and most-visited law enforcement portal on the Web.

During 2010, law enforcement professionals downloaded thousands of APSA/POSA training programs. We confidently believe that the actual number of officers using the material was several times higher, since (1) there is known pass-along rate for downloaded programs and (2) this material is used for department-wide training sessions.

Over 60 training tips, dozens of articles, and 15 full-length training programs have been available for download during 2010. Training tips are 3- to 5-minute videos on various subjects. The complete list of available APSA/POSA training can be viewed at www.officer.com.

POSA's training portfolio expanded in 2010 to include 3 new full-length training programs. These programs address major subjects and are typically an hour or more in length. They are available either in PowerPoint or video format, or both. The titles are briefly described below.

After-Action Critiques

Public safety professionals are usually encouraged to conduct after-action evaluations after every significant event or call. But quite often, this necessary continuous-improvement activity is either forgotten or devolves into a relatively meaningless exercise. This training program presents a disarmingly simple continuous-improvement method that is widely used in the business world but so far hasn't been much adopted by the public sector although it is just as useful there. This tool is at the core of what world-class companies such as Toyota and IBM do to get better every year.

Meth Lab Recognition and Response

This program and 100-slide PowerPoint presentation familiarizes public safety personnel about how to recognize a lab if you are approaching one or are in one, how to recognize a dangerous meth user, the chemicals used in clandestine meth manufacture, and what to do if you encounter a user or lab.

The presenter of this program has over 15 years of clandestine (clan) meth lab experience, including years of undercover investigations in the meth subculture. He ran a state-wide clan lab program for five years and in his SWAT capacity has made over 150 dynamic, high-risk entries into them. He has been the safety supervisor overseeing the dismantling of over 400 labs.

Handcuffing: A Street-Practical Approach

This program addresses the shortcomings that are still present in many academy and in-service training programs on handcuffing. Handcuffing is the most common use of force that police officers apply, and many are injured each year as a result of suspect resistance during the process. This program covers the various kinds of handcuffing restraints, the ways officers make sure these restraints are not defeated by the suspect, and it demonstrates a new and safer way for officers to effect the cuffing.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b, Program Service Accomplishments:

Program Service Area #2: Law Enforcement Equipment Grant Program - continued

APSA designates 10% of its net income to the Equipment Grant Program. During 2010, APSA drew on these funds to make cash award grants to 3 police departments around the nation for a total program donation of $8,450.00. The purpose of these grants is to help increase department safety by helping to acquire needed but otherwise unfunded equipment, training, and supplies. The grants were made on the basis of standard-format applications submitted by requesting departments. Grant applications are made readily available to all departments by downloading a Microsoft WORD document from the APSA web site. Recipients, amounts, and details are listed on APSA's website www.americanpsa.org.

Cooperstown, New York Police Department - $1,650 for TASERS

The historic Village of Cooperstown is a small town with global appeal in the heart of central New York. Its many cultural and historic attractions bring visitors from all over the world. Especially during peak seasons, the small police department can be very busy with complaints and arrests. Backup is 15- to 30-minutes away on good days, which is an eternity when bad things are happening. TASERS are recognized as a crucial and necessary part of modern policing, and they dramatically reduce both officer and suspect injuries. The village was unable to afford TASERS for its officers and APSA was glad to help.

Lowellville, Ohio Police Department - $3,800 for Tactical Vests

Too often, we can forget that rural communities such as Lowellville are just as prone to violence as big cities. The village of Lowellville faces the same threats as any other community, but with fewer resources and with help in the form of a SWAT team taking too long to get there in the case of a fast-breaking emergency situation. The tactical vests will protect Lowellville's officers as they handle the high-risk events in their community's residences and businesses.

Castalia, Ohio Police Department - $3,000 for A Cruiser Video System

The village of Castalia is a small town in north central Ohio, but it has two state highways running through it and it houses a junior/senior high school. Castalia's PD operates 24/7 with one officer per shift, and last year logged 122 drug arrests. With back up a good 20 minutes away, officer safety is a major concern and cruiser dash cams make a huge difference in this regard.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c: A review of any possible infractions of the conflict of interest policy has been inserted into the agenda of each board meeting held Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 15: The American Police and Sheriff's Board of Directors commissioned an independent "compensation reasonableness study" to benchmark the salaries for the Organization's three employees.

Salary information was obtained for similar positions in comparable organizations in order to ascertain the reasonableness of salary levels. These three employees hold the positions of Executive Director, Director of Operations/Training Director, and Administrative Manager/Webmaster in the American Police and Sheriff's Association and its related organization the Firefighters Support Foundation, Inc. For comparison purposes, each employee's salary was calculated as the sum of their salaries from both organizations, and was compared to salary levels for single full-time salaried positions in similar benchmark organizations.

It was determined that "...Firefighters Support Foundation with the American Police and Sheriff's Association, pays a very comparable if not less, percentage of its total revenue on it's Executive Director and key employees when that comparison is made to the organizations selected for the analysis... In addition, actual amount of salary paid to the executives of the Firefighters Support Foundation, Inc. are less than amounts paid by the comparable organizations."

The board subsequently developed reviewed and approved employment contracts for the three employees. This action was noted in the board meeting minutes.
